

Tiny Dick

The clock shows 12 am and you know the night is still young. You've just down your fifth can of beer and all your inhibitions are pretty much washed away. Amidst high voltage beat of club music and remaining bits of sandwiches and hotdogs on the party table, you make your move. Not to the mouth-watering pineapple and cakes but something juicier across the verandah - a gay guy in the house, dressed in a pair of tight blue Levi's jeans and a black body hugging outfit so thin you could practically see his nipples and bulging muscles imprinted. A young hot sexy gay whose name you couldn't care much about but would gladly tear his asshole apart and to hear his cries like a wolf in a fullmoon night. You walked over and put up your best impression and search for common affection. You got his attention and he digs your intention to have a carefree mind blowing ride all night long. In search for a sex place, you both settle in the toilet, closed the door and start smooching. He bends over, grabbing the sink anticipating the rough shove that you've promised to deliver but it never came. Then his words hit so hard you thought you were run over by a truck doing 160 mph on the freeway. "C'mon f*ck harder!!", he yelled and turned to find out what's the matter. "Oh my god! You have a small dick! I can't even feel you." That's it! Your fantasy just turned into a nightmare. Your supposedly fun-filled night ended prematurely. The hot dude left the party and you follow suit feeling the lowest and the smallest in your life. You vowed never again to attempt something like that. Your esteem is crushed. Yes you've heard the hurtful words. Admit it, you have a small dick!

Before you go thinking you are going to lead a sexless life or you are better off chopping your miserable lil' dick and do away with a vagina and take a 180 degree turn to join your cousin counterpart being a lesbian (hey it's still gay anyway) let's look things at the brighter side. If it makes you feeling any better, there are actually 45% male population around the world who are dissatisfied with their penile length. Feeling not so alone now? A non-erected penis averages around 3 to 4 inches, whereas an erected one ranges from 5.5 to 7 inches with a circumference of 4.7 to 5.1 inches on average. Very little penile growth occurs from 5 years of age till the onset of puberty, whereas an adult dick size should be reached in 5 years from puberty period. So if you are at least 17 years of age now, that is about the size you can get naturally so far. The clinical term for a small dick is micropenis and the medical term for such disease is named Tiny Penis Syndrome (TPS). However, do not worry just yet. TPS is a rare disease. If your dick is small it does not mean you have TPS. As long as your penis is not shorter than 2 inches (non-erected) or less than 4 inches (erected), you shouldn't be worried that it is too small. So go right on, take a ruler and measure the length our little friend down there now. If it does not match the criteria listed above, then your brother probably does not fit in the tiny dick category after all – well at least technically.

Don't go feeling so ashamed and useless thinking that the flaccid inflated-balloon like thing hanging limpidly between your thighs is good for nothing other than peeing. Heck even you think your saggy balls overshadows their little neighbour. Heck it does not even qualified being called a cock. Fret not, in reality there are some gay men who like em' small. Yea you heard it right. Just like there are some Caucasian men who like small chested Asians, there are those who think small dicks are cute. Check out apps.worldgroups.com under the small dick for gays group for starters. There is a whole community out there for gay men with tiny dick.

The starting story might be a nightmare for any gay men inferior about the size of their wee wee. Yes indeed, but the truth is, the story is a little exaggerated. Do not be put off from looking a partner or a random sex partner in a gay sex party. You do not always have to be the one with the phone and camera acting director only to re-watch them in solitude while doing self-pleasing. Go ahead and look for someone who also has a matching dick size. Try hitting someone with smaller built, chances are, the other part of their anatomy is small too. Try Asian. Researches show that they have smaller penis size compared to Caucasian or blacks. Some think tiny dicks are cute. Some will thank you for not tearing their tight asses apart literally. Some look past the size because bigger does not necessary mean better and they do not call love is blind for nothing. After all there is nothing wrong as long as your tiny friend is in the pink. Erection? check. Producing cum? check. Fully functioning for the whole intercourse? check. Disease free? check. If you are still skeptical, let the experts reassure you that your sexy buddy is working fine. As long as you are not facing impotence or erectile dysfunction and have a perfectly healthy looking dick with at least 4 inches long erected, then you are as strong as a horny mustang! So do not be afraid and ashamed. There are room for every gay men no matter how small they are. Go right on and find a partner who accepts you for who you are. Take a positive outlook as Jason Mraz sings it “Oh I’m looking on the bright side and balancing the whole thing...” Tiny dick you say? Nah..no biggie.

-Alex Lee-

12/5/2008